

I know they were using slide rules for calculations but I did not know they judged food quality from color changes

She does not know that people were much smarter and were not color blind in those days

Honey, you know there were color changing indicators in the past

